

The Office of Academic Affairs and The Center for Teaching Excellence proudly present the seventh annual Providence College

INTERDISCIPLINARY FACULTY SEMINAR:

JUSTICE

Mary O’Keeffe
Seminar Coordinator
Associate Professor,
Psychology
Justice: Balancing the Benefits and Burdens of Research

Darra Mulderry
Assistant Professor,
History
*The Evolution of an Ideal:
‘Social Justice’ and American
Catholic Sisters,
1950-1970*

Tuba Agartan
Assistant Professor,
Health Policy and Management
*Crafting the Balance Between States and Markets in the Global Age:
Questions on Social Justice*

Julia Jordan-Zachery
Associate Professor,
Political Science and
Black Studies Program Director
Where My Girls At? Notions of Justice and Girls of Color in a “Post”-Racial Society

Nicholas Longo
Associate Professor,
Public & Community Service Studies
Social Justice as Public Scholarship: Connecting Research, Teaching, and Service

Jeffrey Pugh
Assistant Professor, Political Science
Peace Built on a Foundation of Justice: Institutions, Politics, and Social Change

Raymond Hain
Assistant Professor, Philosophy
Justice in the Public Square: An Architectural Exploration

Fred Drogula
Associate Professor, History
The Ancient Origins of ‘Justice’ and their Influence on Modern Thought